Student Right-To-Know Graduation and Transfer-Out Rates

What is Student Right-To-Know?

Student Right-To-Know is a federal law that requires all colleges and universities to disclose certain information to students. This handout provides the information that a college must provide to students on graduation rates and transfer-out rates for full-time students seeking degrees at Minnesota North College.

What is a graduation rate and what is a transfer-out rate?

Federal regulations specify how to calculate the graduation and transfer rates. The rates come from a study of Minnesota North College students who started at the college in the Fall 2022. The study includes all first-time students who enrolled full-time that fall and were seeking to earn a degree at the college. The graduation rate is the percentage of these students who graduated from the college within three years. The transfer-out rate is the percentage of these students who did not graduate from the college but instead transferred to another college or university within three years.

What do I need to know about these rates?

These rates do not report on all students at Minnesota North College. The 656 first-time, full-time students in the study were 18 percent of all undergraduate students enrolled in Fall 2022.

What are the graduation and transfer-out rates for Minnesota North College students and how do they compare to rates for other colleges?

- The graduation rate for Minnesota North College was 53 percent.
- The transfer-out rate for Minnesota North College was 14 percent.
- The combination of the graduation rate and the transfer-out rate was 67 percent. The national average combined rate for similar colleges was 51 percent.

Why don't more Minnesota North College students graduate or transfer in three years?

- Since Minnesota North College has an "open door" mission, many new students need to take developmental courses to improve reading, writing, or math skills before taking other college courses;
- Some students take jobs before they graduate;
- Students who switch from full-time to part-time enrollment or "stop out" for one or more semesters are more likely to take more than three years to graduate;
- Other students delay their education for personal, family or financial reasons.
